

Polk County History and Heritage Trail Citrus Label Tour

A partnership between the Florida Citrus Hall of Fame, Visit Central Florida and the Polk County History Center's History and Heritage Trail inspired the creation of the Citrus Label Tour of Polk County. This driving experience explores part of the historic marketing portion of citrus through enlarged reproductions of the artistic labels that once adorned the old wooden crates used to ship the fresh fruit off to northern markets in the early 1900s.

The Citrus Label Tour explores part of the historic marketing portion of citrus through the artistic labels that once adorned the old wooden crates used to ship the fresh fruit off to northern markets in the early 1900s.

Marketing labels were used to distinguish citrus brands from others when selling them to markets. These artistic labels displayed various depictions of Floridian heritage, flora and fauna, historical sites, military and animals. The citrus labels were popular during the early 1900s and thrived until the end of World War II. After the war, there was a serious shortage of wood and metal, which brought about the switch to shipping citrus in cardboard boxes with pre-printed labels, putting an end to the creative crate labels for which Polk was known.

The labels are displayed at various sites along the tour trail. Those interested in securing citrus labels for display should contact the History Center for details and an application.

This one of a kind tour is sure to enhance anyone's knowledge of Polk's rich history, and expose many to the beautiful artwork that evolved out of the industry.
